Roblox BedWars

It was winter. I finally could play in the snow when I decided that I would play some bedwars with my cousin and brothers when I got smacked in the face by someone and knocked out the next thing I knew I was playing bedwars. But different. It was like VR but my legs in the game moved when I tried to move my real legs. And same for the rest of my body so i asked my cousin but he couldn't hear me. He was on his computer so he didn't hear me. So i said to myself what my friend bodie always says "with a ton of random stuff anything is possible". I went and put wyatt into my game party and we went to play.

When we got into the game I all of a sudden could hear Wyatt and see his face. I had accessed his mic and camera so he could hear me. When the game started we ran to the generator. We were doing doubles so it was only Wyatt and I. we each got 8 iron and bought wool to save time instead of 16. I started the bridge and Wyatt finished it. We took out the enemy and used their iron to buy more wool. We bridged to the diamonds and we upgraded our iron generator.

We both got full iron and ran to mid to get emeralds. We took out three guys together and then transformed into void angels to steal life. We both got diamond armor and took out two beds. Then we went back to base to buy more stuff. We maxed out our generator and got balloons and TNT. We each bombed three beds and took out the rest of the players. Then it took me back to reality and then I went back to play in the snow.

The End